Trent Humphries will kick off his 2008 campaign for Arizona House of Representatives-District 26 by picking up trash on a portion of Oracle Road. On March 8, 2008 he and his volunteers will meet at the east end of the Oro Valley Kohl's parking lot at 7:30 a.m. and begin cleanup at Oracle and Ina. They will finish up at James Kreigh Park in Oro Valley at 9 AM where Trent will then address the crowd to officially launch his campaign.

When asked why not the traditional wine and cheese event, Humphries said, "Picking up trash on the side of the road isn't glamorous, but is a lot like service in the legislature. It will be hard, often thankless, but highly necessary work fixing problems that you didn't create. There is something rewarding about rolling up your sleeves and getting your hands dirty to make things better for the community." Humphries plans to continue community service throughout his campaign inviting others to join him at each service activity. He hopes that by highlighting these community projects and the volunteers who are currently filling those needs, more people will become involved in their community. He added, "I am running for State House at great expense and sacrifice to my young family. I do it because there is so much at stake for Arizona right now. I want Southern Arizona and specifically District 26 to be a healthy, vibrant and safe place for my family and for all of the other families that live and work here."

Humphries has been actively involved in Southern Arizona politics since moving his 4th generation Southern Arizona wife Jennifer and their children back to Arizona in 2004. He is the co-founder of the Arizona 8th political blog (<http://arizonaeighth.blogspot.com>) and owner of Blasted Contraction Computer Services specializing in attorney and law office software and hardware.
